General Comment

This rule creates significant uncertainty and would be detrimental to the State of Wyoming's economy. This rule punishes miners that sell to small industrial customers and export coal, hurts coal cooperatives and captive mine power plants. There needs to be more studies and review of this rule and see how it will impact all those concerned. I don't want to be relying on foreign countries to take care of us and giving the Secretary of the Interior all the power could lead us in the wrong direction and relying more on others.
