RE: (RIN) 1012-AA13, Consolidated Federal Oil and Gas and Federal and Indian Coal Valuation Reform

If we care about our planet and future generations, we need to do everything possible to decrease the amount of CO₂ we're putting into the atmosphere. That means keeping all publicly-owned coal in the ground so it cannot add to this mounting disaster. Please put an immediate end to the federal coal leasing program and do everything in your power to keep publicly owned coal in the ground.

Giving publicly owned coal to private companies is incompatible with President Obama's stated commitment to stop runaway climate change. You must end the federal coal leasing program and do everything in your power to keep publicly owned coal in the ground. We must leave at least 90% of U.S. coal reserves in the ground just to have a 50-50% chance of containing runaway climate change. A fifty percent chance does not seem good enough to me. It is time to leave all the coal in the ground, period. And certainly to end this federal coal leasing program immediately. It is a lose-lose proposition.

You must end the federal coal leasing program and do everything in your power to keep publicly owned coal in the ground. Not only that, i find Big Oil and Coal's arguments that we need to be independent from other country's oils rather specious, given the fact that none of the oil or coal taken from our reserves is for the US market, but rather the global market where we have to compete in price for it. So giving away a resource, at the expense of our environment, our health and our financial health is really stupid. I can only say that if Ms Jewell continues to do this, she has sold herself and our country for 30 pieces of silver.

Please end the federal coal leasing program and do everything in your power to keep publicly-owned coal in the ground. We don't need any more of this dirty fossil fuel destroying our environment and adding to climate change. We need a policy that encourages alternative, clean fuels - not one that continues to contaminate our world.

RE: (RIN) 1012-AA13, Consolidated Federal Oil and Gas and Federal and Indian Coal Valuation Reform

The fact is that we have only one Earth. Everything we do, no matter where our actions take place impacts our shared world. Giving publicly owned coal to private companies is incompatible with President Obama's stated commitment to stop runaway climate change. That coal is burned in other countries, but it still affects us! According to a new study in published in the journal Nature, we must leave at least 90 percent of remaining US coal reserves in the ground to have just a 50-50 chance of stopping runaway climate change! ("To Curb Global Warming, 90 Percent of U.S. Coal Should Stay Buried," Bloomberg, January 7, 2015). PLEASE consider the consequences of your actions on our planet and people. Please end the federal coal leasing program and do everything in your power to keep publicly owned coal in the ground.

WAKE UP! Stop ruining the planet! Industry will NOT bite the bullet and switch to clean energy unless it HAS to. Legally, a publicly-traded corporation's only "conscience" is to maximize profits in the next quarter. There are exceptions, but most don't care about the planet, and they can't think long-term. Make dirty energy difficult in every way that you can! Giving publicly owned coal to private companies is incompatible with President Obama's stated commitment to stop runaway climate change. RE: (RIN) 1012-AA13, Consolidated Federal Oil and Gas and Federal and Indian Coal Valuation Reform

Climate warming will continue if U.S. laws and policies are not changed. Currently, and for over 100 years, U.S. policies have subsidized coal, oil, and gas extraction via very inexpensive leases on Federal lands, as well as via subsidies and huge tax breaks. Public lands should have new laws that dramatically reduce coal, oil, and gas extraction. Giving publicly owned coal to private companies is incompatible with President Obama's stated commitment to stop runaway climate change. You must end the federal coal leasing program and do everything in your power to keep publicly owned coal in the ground.

Giving publicly owned coal to private companies is incompatible with President Obama's stated commitment to stop runaway climate change. You must end the federal coal leasing program and do everything in your power to keep publicly owned coal in the ground. The coal fired plant near my home caused my healthy mother to become ill with ASTHMA. New Jersey and Conn. sued PA to shut the plant down because so many of their citizens were developing asthma. Coal pollutes the air and the waste pollutes the land and water. BUT U KNOW THIS SO PROTECT THE PUBLIC AND STOP THE US FROM BURNING COAL OR SELLING IT TO ANY OTHER COUNTRY.

RE: (RIN) 1012-AA13, Consolidated Federal Oil and Gas and Federal and Indian Coal Valuation Reform

Giving publicly owned coal to private companies is incompatible with President Obama's stated commitment to stop runaway climate change. You must end the federal coal leasing program and do everything in your power to keep publicly owned coal in the ground. We have long heard arguments that taking action on climate change is pointless if other countries will not do so. By sending those countries cheap coal from the U.S., we're guaranteeing that those recipient countries have less incentive to change their own patterns of carbon use. Raising the price charged by the federal coal leasing program is not enough; reduce or eliminate this giveaway and force polluters to alter their carbon practices.

RE: (RIN) 1012-AA13, Consolidated Federal Oil and Gas and Federal and Indian Coal Valuation Reform

"The coal leasing program isn't just a major contributor to climate change – it is also a ripoff for taxpayers, with an estimated billion dollars per year less in revenue..." -- CREDO Action Interior Secretary Sally Jewell has done nothing so far to put a stop to the federal coal leasing program. Interior has continued giving away hundreds of millions of tons of dirty coal. Giving publicly owned coal to private companies will make it impossible to stop runaway climate change. End the federal coal leasing program and ensure that publicly owned coal is kept in the ground.

RE: (RIN) 1012-AA13, Consolidated Federal Oil and Gas and Federal and Indian Coal Valuation Reform

Giveaways and below-market sales of publicly owned coal to private companies do not square with President Obama's stated determination to stop runaway climate change. But the problem is much bigger than that and crucial to the nation and world's future prospects, environmentally and economically. To forestall huge negative consequences for our children and grandchildren, the federal coal leasing program must be ended and publicly owned coal must stay in the ground.

RE: (RIN) 1012-AA13, Consolidated Federal Oil and Gas and Federal and Indian Coal Valuation Reform

According to a shocking new study published in the journal Nature, we must leave at least 90 percent of remaining U.S. coal reserves in the ground to have just a 50-50 chance of stopping runaway climate change.¹ Now, after decades of deference to coal companies and outright incompetence, the Interior Department is finally updating the federal coal leasing program. But instead of simply charging coal companies more money for publicly owned coal, as Interior has indicated it plans to do, we need to do what scientists say is necessary: Keep dirty coal in the ground where it belongs. Giving publicly owned coal to private companies is incompatible with President Obama's stated commitment to stop runaway climate change. You must end the federal coal leasing program and do everything in your power to keep publicly owned coal in the ground.

RE: (RIN) 1012-AA13, Consolidated Federal Oil and Gas and Federal and Indian Coal Valuation Reform

As part owner of the coal passing through the federal leasing program, I object vigorously to turning it over to coal companies at a fraction of its value so those companies can enrich themselves. I am pleased that you are at least reconsidering this program that has not worked in the public interest. BUT, and it is a big one, I believe it is time to start leaving publicly-owned coal where it is, in the ground. A study recently published in Nature indicates that we have to leave at least 90% of remaining U.S. coal reserves in the ground to have any hope of halting drastic climate change. The president has said that he is committed to stopping runaway climate change. If we are going to do that, then your course of action seems crystal clear to me: you must end the federal coal leasing program and act now to keep publicly-owned coal in the ground. The sequestration of all that carbon is what made our planet livable for us in the first place. As long as the federal coal leasing program is allowed to continue, its huge contribution to global greenhouse gas emissions will undermine President Obama's climate agenda and threaten our planet as we have known it. Please move in that direction promptly. It is past time to take climate change seriously. Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

RE: (RIN) 1012-AA13, Consolidated Federal Oil and Gas and Federal and Indian Coal Valuation Reform

Giving publicly owned coal to private companies is incompatible with President Obama's stated commitment to stop runaway climate change. Why is this so hard to understand? Because money is involved. When all the coal has been given away to international companies and the gases that result from burning the coal are in the atmosphere, what then? The current leasing program is a legacy of death. You must end this program and do everything in your power to keep publicly owned coal in the ground.

As a US citizen, that there is my land and I don't want anyone mining coal on it. I don't want to contribute more to climate change, to air pollution, to mercury and other hazardous waste products buried in the ground. And if, you cannot stop selling off parts of my property, at least sell it at a market price rate - plus!
