General Comment

ONRR proposed legislation is yet another farce of a failed economic and energy policy in this country. Another layered tax on the energy industry that increases costs for the poor and low income American families. The target is the coal industry and despite the constant barrage of the sky is falling rhetoric from global warming oops I mean "climate change" activists, we can't actually show any warming trend unless we manipulate the data and bastardize what data is actually collected.

Do you actually believe people listen, respect or trust in your progressive agenda? Lets try another ploy to make fossil fuels more costly so we can cater to our solar and wind donors. Who cares if power prices have increased 50-70% across this country, they can't blame me it's a perfect broad-based tax to fuel our dysfunctional government.

Get real people and try and solve problems. You are making more and history proves it.
